

Report on Orientation Programme for First Year Law Students 2019-20

Vidyavardhaka Law College organized Orientation Programme for First Year Law Students on 5th August 2019 at College Auditorium. Well come speech rendered by Prof. Deepu.p, principal, Vidyavardhaka Law College, Mysuru. This function has been inaugurated by Sr. Suresh K. Vontigodi, Principal district judge, District Court, Mysuru. In his inaugural speech he said the practice of law has always demanded the highest and best efforts of the lawyer. At present legal profession is one of the dignified professions. Legal ethics is a term used to describe a code of conduct governing proper professional behavior, which establishes the nature of obligations owed to individuals and to society. A lawyer shall always conduct himself ethically and morally. The best way a lawyer can uphold the integrity and dignity of the legal profession is not to engage in any conduct or do any act that adversely reflects on his fitness to practice law, nor to behave, in his public or private life, in a scandalous manner to the discredit of the legal profession.

Chief Guest of this function Sri. Swamiji Yukteshananda Said Personality development is the development of the organized pattern of behaviors and attitudes that makes a person distinctive. Personality development occurs by the ongoing interaction of temperament, character, and environment. He said personal development may include the following activities:

- Improving self-awareness.
- Improving self-knowledge.
- Improving skills and/or learning new ones.
- Building or renewing identity/self-esteem.

- Developing strengths or talents.
- Improving a career.
- Identifying or improving potential.

This Programme has been presided by Hon'ble president of Vidyavardhaka Sangha, Mysuru; he said the legal profession plays an important role in the administration of Justice. The lawyer assists the court in arriving at the correct judgment. The lawyers collect material relating to the case and thereby help the court or judge to arrive at the correct judgment.

At last vote of thanks rendered by Prof. S.B. Boregowda, Coordinator.

Dr. Ravish, Psychiatrist, Mysore Medical College, Mysuru, delivered a lecture on “Minds of Young India”. He said In order to understand which skills and jobs India’s young people want, and assess whether the current education system meets these aspirations, the World Economic Forum and the Observer Research Foundation collaboratively conducted a survey of more than 5,000 youth in India. The results indicate that young Indians are ambitious and show greater autonomy in their career decisions. They acknowledge changing skill requirements and are eager to pursue higher education, undergo additional training and enroll in skill development programmes. At the same time, various factors are blocking their ambitions and preventing them from adapting effectively to the changing nature of work. The survey’s insights can inform policies and strategic action to ensure that India’s young people transition smoothly from education to economic activity. Here are some key findings. The influence of family and peers on the career and educational choices of India's youth is in decline. Young people are increasingly seeking productive employment opportunities and career paths that reflect their individual aspirations. Around half of the respondents cite interest in their field of study as the primary reason for their choice, while 19% report being influenced by their families. Moreover, a third of the respondents report being interested in entrepreneurship, and 63% report being highly or moderately interested in supplementing their income with gig work. This shows a degree of openness towards alternative forms of employment.

Sri. Stanleey, founder Secretary of odanadi seva samsthe, he delivered a lecture on Human trafficking in India. he said human trafficking involves recruitment, harbouring or transporting people into a situation of exploitation through the use of violence, deception or coercion and forced to work against their will. In other words, trafficking is a process of enslaving people, coercing them into a situation with no way out, and exploiting them. Trafficking for sexual exploitation gets much attention. However, the majority of people are trafficked into labour exploitation. Many people who fall victim of trafficking want to escape poverty, improve their lives, and support their families. Often they get an offer of a well-paid job abroad or in another region. Often they borrow money from their traffickers in advance to pay for arranging the job, travel and accommodation. When they arrive they find that the work they applied for does not exist, or the conditions are completely different. But it's too late, their documents are often taken away and they are forced to work until their debt is paid off.

Prof. Rajgopal delivered a lecture on Personality development. In his speech said Personality development is gaining more and more importance because it enables people to create a good impression about themselves on others; it helps them to build and develop relationships, helps in your career growth and also helps to improve your financial needs. Personality Development quintessentially means enhancing and grooming one's outer and inner self to bring about a positive change to your life. Each individual has a distinct persona that can be developed, polished and refined. This process includes boosting one's confidence, improving communication and language speaking abilities, widening ones scope of knowledge, developing certain hobbies or skills, learning fine etiquettes and manners, adding style and grace to the way one looks, talks and walks and overall imbibing oneself with positivity, liveliness and peace. After all, personality development is nothing but a tool that helps you realize your capabilities and your strengths making you a stronger, a happier and a cheerful person.

Prof. Prahalad delivered a lecture on “how to improve Communication Skills”

Communication skills are the abilities you use when giving and receiving different kinds of information. Some examples include communicating new ideas, feelings or even an update on your project. Communication skills involve listening, speaking, observing and empathizing. Communication skills allow you to understand and be understood by others. These can include but are not limited to effectively communicating ideas to others, actively listening in conversations, giving and receiving critical feedback and public speaking. Communication skills are the abilities you use when giving and receiving different kinds of information. Some examples include communicating new ideas, feelings or even an update on your project. Communication skills involve listening, speaking, observing and empathizing. It is also helpful to understand the differences in how to communicate through face-to-face interactions, phone conversations and digital communications like email and social media.
